

Did you know that the City of St. Charles includes information for our residents not only in the St. Charles Press but also the Advertiser? If you do not have a subscription to the St. Charles Press and wonder about getting information from the City and others, take a look inside the Advertiser; local businesses include a flyer most weeks. The Advertiser, which is a free publication, is sent to everyone who does not receive the St. Charles Press. Recently, the City of St. Charles put a flyer for "Cleanup Day" in both the St. Charles Press and the Advertiser; we have been told that some people do not look through the Advertiser when they receive it so they were not aware of the cleanup day. We would like to encourage everyone to take a minute to look through the Advertiser before recycling it and check for any ads or flyers that may be included. And remember, you can always check out the City website (www.stcharlesmn.org) for upcoming events.
